CDT

CSI's CDT program has provided foundation training in construction documentation for architects, contractors, contract administrators, specifiers, and manufacturers' representatives for decades. As the cornerstone of CSI's certification program, it's also prerequisite to CSI's advanced certification exams.

Getting your CDT means:

- ◆ Understanding how a project unfolds from conception to delivery
- ◆ Understanding the documentation involved

CCCA

A CSI Certified Construction Contract Administrator (CCCA) develops, administers and enforces construction documentation.

Getting your CCCA means:

- ◆ Developing an in-depth understanding of quality assurance and quality control
- ◆ Having advanced skills in bidding and negotiating procedures
- ◆ Developing skills in construction observation and inspection
- ◆ Understanding Division 01, General and Supplemental Conditions, agreements, and all other documents related to the project
- ◆ Understanding enforcement and liability

CCS

A CSI Certified Construction Specifier (CCS) is a skilled product researcher who knows how to investigate and identify cost-effective, efficient solutions, and then communicate those solutions through the specifications.

Getting your CCS means:

- ◆ Developing an in-depth understanding of agreements, conditions of the contract, Division 01, and their relationships to specifications
- ◆ Having advanced skills in specification development, enabling you to use spec-writing software more effectively
- ◆ Understanding how to research and source products
